A Unique Primitive Freestanding Butcher Block on Three Long Legs, French Circa 1850.

List: $3,250

An unusually tall, free-standing primitive French fruitwood butcher block table. The single slab of wood is substantial and supported by three slender and graceful peeled tree-branch legs. Originally, this would have been a piece of industrial furniture. Now, it's a one-of-a-kind decorative piece with desirable characteristics of age, irregularities of surface and variations in the golden and darker hues of the wood surface and grain. A unique small table that would create interest in any space; French circa 1850.

height: 30.5 in. 77.5 cm., diameter: 20 in. 51 cm.
